

Conexus Model

The Conexus model is a tool to help understand how to be connected. It consists of four levels of connection. In the following pages you will see the different levels and the essence of every level. All levels add up to being truly connected. With yourself, with others and with all there is. To being Homo Conexus.

The model is simple. But maybe that's why it's so hard. Homo Conexus has always been our starting point. And more than ever it should become our destiny too.
